The Run for the Fight against Cancer was a Huge Success!

Participants Marianne Leach, Holli Canning and Krista Leach.

L'École secondaire catholique Trillium organized its first walk/run for cancer on May 29, 2011. This event proved to be a great success with forty participants of all ages who completed either a 2 km, 5 km or 10 km run. Four year-old Tony Morin was the youngest participant and he completed the 2 km run. Several people came out to the school to encourage our participants and to enjoy the delicious BBQ prepared by our grade 8 class. What a great afternoon!

Mr. Chris Grant was the winner of the $200 participation prize. Upon receiving news of his winnings, Mr. Grant graciously donated the prize money back so that we may add it to our fundraising efforts. Thank you Mr. Grant! This generous act has allowed the students to raise a total of $640.00, which will be presented to the local organizing committee of the Relay for Life during this year's celebration.

The students and the Health Professional Learning Community of EscTrillium wish to thank all the volunteers for helping during the race as well as Mr. Jacques Tremblay and the grade 8 students for serving the delicious BBQ. Thank you to Gail Bignucolo and Isabelle Tremblay from the hospital for all their advice as well as for providing the running ID numbers and the give-away bags for the participants.

Lastly, a huge thank you to all the participants who took to the streets of Chapleau and rose to the challenge – WAY TO GO!

June 21st is Original Peoples' Celebration Day

National Aboriginal Day is celebrated in Canada on June 21st each year, the solar equinox's annual longest full day of daylight. This year Chapleau area First Nations are celebrating the day in their own way with a welcome to all.

There is a sunrise ceremony at 5:30 AM at the Turtle Lodge on the Fox lake Reserve, followed by breakfast at the Isiah Saylor's Complex.

Brunswick House First Nation holds opening ceremonies with Chief Renee Ojeebah at 9:00 AM at the Joseph H. Saunders Community Centre. There will also be canoe team flag making during that hour.

Area schools are marking the day with a 'Mini Pow-Wow' being held this year in the gym at Chapleau High School starting at 11:00 AM. There will be a grand entrance, traditional drumming and traditional dance. Later lunch will be available from the Cafetorium and there is a piece of National Aboriginal Day celebration cake for everyone before the giveaway and wrap-up by 2:00 PM!

The afternoon and evening schedules at Brunswick House First Nation and Chapleau Cree First Nation, starting at 3:00 PM, are quite busy and you are encouraged to look for and follow the schedules on the brochures and posters that respective

First Nations will have available in the community or at the mini pow-wow. Enjoy the celebrations!

90th Reunion Report

By George Evans

As we approach the annual July 1 celebrations for this year, the Organizing Committee of the CHS 90th Reunion Festival keeps its eyes on next year's July 1 weekend.

At its latest meeting, the Committee spent most of its time reviewing a draft 4-day programme of events for the occasion, running from advance registration on the Thursday evening through closing ceremonies on Sunday. While it is far too soon to release details, it is safe to say that there will be many diverse opportunities for former students of CHS and ESCHS to mingle, reminisce, and catch up with each other's lives.

In order for word to get out to as many former students as possible, the Committee urges readers to invite through the electronic social media all their out-of-town fellow-students to go to www.chs90threunionfestival.com to look at videos from the 75th Reunion and to register their interest in the 90th reunion. Many Chapleauites living in distant places have already done so and the list of names and current addresses is growing daily.

More local sociable types are needed to dispense drinks at several events during the Reunion.

As one may well imagine, hospitality is an essential service at a high school reunion.

Earle Freeborn wants to hear from volunteers willing to step up to defend Chapleau's reputation as the "Friendliest Town in the North". Please contact him. The more, the merrier, and fewer hours for all.

The next meeting of the Committee will take place at 6:30 p.m., June 22, 2011, at the Civic Centre.

If tears could build a stairway and thoughts a memory lane We'd walk right up to heaven and bring you home again.
No farewell words were spoken, no time to say good-bye
You were gone before we knew it and only God knows why.
Our hearts still active in sadness and secret tears still flow
What it meant to lose you no one can ever know.
But now we know you want us to mourn for you no more To remember all the happy times life still has much in store.
Since you'll never be forgotten we pledge to you today
A hollowed place within our hearts is where you always stay.

Cannon being fired launched celebration while Memegos family dominated canoe races and Rita Desson won Summer Queen Contest on 1951 Dominion Day in Chapleau

Chapleau Moments

by Michael J. Morris

When I was a kid growing up in Chapleau, I always made sure I was up to hear the sound of the cannon being fired at seven a.m to mark the beginning of the Dominion Day celebration, organized each year by Branch Number 5 (Ontario) of the Royal Canadian Legion.

School was out, and summer vacation was launched with the July 1 activities all located at the beach area between Chapleau Public School and the field behind the old Chapleau High School, except for the giant parade that wound through the streets ending up at the beach.

Such was Dominion Day for a child who had to get his costume ready and tricycle decorated for the annual July 1 parade that marked one of the highlights of the year for me so much in the years following World War II that I still recall the celebrations like they were only yesterday.

My mother, Muriel E. (Hunt) Morris, and my grandparents (Nanny and Grandpa... Edith and George Hunt) would help me get ready for the parade and off I would go for a day packed with activities for our entire community.

Leading the parade was the Legion Colour Party and the Chapleau Town Band.

J. M. Shoup, a veteran of both World Wars I and II, principal of Chapleau Public School and township councillor would get us all organized for the parade and later the children's races at the beach.

Many will recall that each child in the parade would receive 10 cents which was quickly spent at the canteen or on the midway. More dimes could be earned by participating in the children's races.

I was also proud to see my grandfather Harry Morris, a veteran of World War I, and one of the first group of members of Branch 5 when it was founded helping out at the activities.

Shortly after World War II, Dr G.E. Young, using his own money, had created a truly wonderful beach area on the banks of the Kepsquasheshing River, and it was the scene of swimming and canoe races, as well as canoe tilting contests. The Memegos family dominated the canoe races and canoe tilting competitions for years and William Memegos, the back packing contest.

Before Willie, the winner was often Bob Mercier.

For example, at the Dominion Day celebration in 1951, in the men's doubles canoe race, Adam Memegos and Julie Quakagesik won while Joe Memegos and Baptiste Memegos were second and A. McAuley and Ray Barty third.

In the mixed doubles, Joe Memegos and Agnes Minnewesqua were first and Baptiste Memegos and Mrs. Adam Memegos second.

Mrs. Ignace Memegos and Mrs. Adam Memegos won the women's doubles with Mrs. Julie Quakagesik and Mrs. Cryer second.

Dr Young's beach was complete with change rooms, wading pools, a nicely grassed area and each year he had truckloads of beach sand brought to refresh it.

Rita Desson was named the 1951 Summer Queen with Florence Encil and Carol "Babe" Chambers as runnersup.

J.M. Shoup organized July 1 events for Chapleau kids. (Ian Macdonald collection)

In the afternoon of July 1, games of chance would be underway while the Town Band would give a concert in the bandstand at the beach area, while over at the ball field there was always an exciting ball tournament. Sometimes there would even be teams from out of town but to me the only team was the Legion on which Garth "Tee" Chambers played shortstop. Tee was my hero in both ball and hockey.

In the 1951 logsawing event the winners were Pierre Martel, W. Donivan and Paul Seguin.

The celebration ended with a dance and fireworks display at the beach area. The fireworks were really spectacular, at least they were to me as a kid, but everyone agreed and "Wow" was heard as they were set off from the golf course side of the river.

By the end of the day I would head home tired but happy looking forward to my summer vacation, cruising around Chapleau on my tricycle.

There aren't too many of those World War II vets left now, and none from World War I, who gave us the July 1 celebration, but I remember all of them fondly, for in war and peace, they made our town a better place for everyone. As I think back some 60 years to life in Chapleau at the beginning of the 1950s, it was truly a wonderful place to be growing up.

Thanks to Doug Greig, Ian Macdonald and Dr. Vince Crichton for their research assistance. My email is mj.morris@live.ca and Facebook is <http://facebook.com/michaeljmorris2>

Best in Canada: Cambrian Wins Gold at National Skills Competition Chapleau native Dillan Cooke takes top honour

By Lynn Bulloch

June 2 and 3, 2011.

Cambrian Computer College is continuing its legacy of success at the Provincial and National Skills Canada competitions with a gold medal win at the Nationals, held in Quebec City on has made Cambrian proud at these competitions," said professor Bob Vachon, who accompanied Cooke to the Nationals.

Since 2005, Cambrian has brought home two gold medals at the national level, as well as one silver and one bronze. Over the same period, at the provincial level, the College earned five gold medals, three silver medals, and three bronze. Vachon said "the fact that we can compete and win at these competitions definitely says something about the value of the education we offer at a comparatively small northern college. Our track record proves that graduates of our program have the skills and talent demanded in the industry."

To take home gold, Cooke endured two days of rigorous problem solving in tasks like setting up Windows 2008 and Linux servers, network design, cabling, infrastructure, configuration, and scripting. Cooke says he knew he was well prepared with help from Cambrian's expert faculty. "I've had lots of time to work on any weaknesses," he explained, "and having instructors like Bob Vachon coach you along doesn't hurt either."

A native of Chapleau, Cooke is in his third year at Cambrian. He's currently finishing up his placement in Computer Systems Technology and is planning to pursue a dual diploma in Computer Systems Technology and Computer Programmer Analyst. He hopes to pursue a career as a network administrator.

Cambrian College President Sylvia Barnard says she's very "proud of Cooke's success," adding that "there is tremendous demand for those talented in computer and network technology. With some of the top technicians in the province graduating from Cambrian, it's obvious that our college can meet the demands of business and industry."

La course pour la lutte contre le cancer fut un succès !

L'école secondaire catholique Trillium a organisé la première course pour le cancer le dimanche 29 mai, 2011. Cet événement fut un grand succès avec quarante personnes de tous les âges qui ont terminé une course et/ou une marche de 2 km, 5 km ou 10

km. Tony Morin, âgé de 4 ans, fut le plus jeune participant qui a parcouru le trajet de 2 km. Plusieurs personnes se sont présentées à l'école pour encourager nos participantes et participants et pour déguster la bouffe préparée par les élèves de la 8e année lors du

BBQ. Quel bel après-midi !

Le gagnant du prix de participation de 200 $ fut M. Chris Grant, qui à son tour, a remis son prix à l'école afin de l'ajouter à la somme d'argent ramassée pour le cancer. Merci M. Grant ! Grâce à la générosité de M.

Grant, la somme totale de notre prélèvement de fonds s'est élevée à 640 $ et ce montant sera remis au comité organisateur local du Relay for Life lors de leur célébration annuelle.

Les élèves et la communauté d'apprentissage pro-fessionnel de santé de l'ÉscTrillium tiennent à remercier tous les bénévoles qui ont aidé lors de la course ainsi que M. Jacques Tremblay et les élèves de la 8e année pour le BBQ délicieux. Merci à Gail Bignucolo et Isabelle Tremblay de l'hôpital, qui nous ont conseillés à plusieurs reprises et qui ont fourni les numéros de course ainsi que les sacs remis aux coureurs.

Enfin, un gros merci à tous les participants et toutes les participantes qui ont bravé les chemins de Chapleau et qui ont réalisé ce défi. BRAVO!

Diabetes – What you need to know

Staying healthy this summer

By Krista Frederiksen and Robin Greer Chapleau Diabetes Education Program

As we head into the summer season, it seems appropriate to share some healthy living habits. If adopted, these habits can help you to feel rested and rejuvenated before returning to regular routine in the fall. Feeling well is often the direct result of eating healthy foods, getting regular exercise and adequate sleep. Keep these three in mind as you plan out your summer schedule. Caring for yourself over the summer can be easier as life tends to be moving at a less hectic pace. The hardest part is deciding whether or not you choose to make health a priority.

You may find that you are eating away from home more than usual due to social activities or travel. Do your best to choose wisely and stick to proper portions. When it is your turn to host, embrace the season and serve a variety of fresh vegetables and fruit.

The benefits of regular exercise go well beyond weight management, and can help your body cope with everything from depression to insomnia. Here are some tips for ways to add activity into your day.

Go for a 10 minute run three times a week.

Get up 10 minutes early and do a set of 30 sit-ups, push-ups, and squats.

Plan a bike ride three times a week or save gas by using a bicycle as part of your commute to work.

Find a dance demo on the internet and practice your "moves" for 15 minutes three times a week.

Get into the habit of taking a walk after dinner.

When you are on holidays, take the opportunity to plan your day around exercise. Examples can include biking to a scenic location, having a picnic lunch and biking back. At the cottage, you can get a great workout swimming. For longer distances, it is advisable to have a friend or family member paddle a canoe alongside you as you swim.

Throughout the year, our trend as a society is to burn the candle at both ends and in order to get all our tasks done, we short change ourselves on sleep. However, emerging evidence tells us this unhealthy habit is causing our bodies significant harm. Sleep plays an important role in regulating hormones, blood glucose and cardiovascular function. It is associated with decreased heart rate and blood pressure. The trend toward shorter sleep duration over the last 50 years coincides with dramatic increases in the prevalence of Type 2 diabetes and obesity.

Although we cannot catch up on missed sleep, we can try to ensure that we start getting our 7-9 hours/night. If you need more information on improving your sleep, see your doctor or diabetes educator.

The following summer tips are for everyone, but especially important for those with diabetes.

* Exposure to UV rays is linked to the formation of cataracts and macular degeneration.

Remember to wear 100% UV block sun glasses for eye protection and comfort.

* Comfortable, well fitting shoes are a great investment. Your feet need the protection and the support that good shoes offer.

People with diabetes should not go barefoot in the house and especially not on a beach or in any public area. Examine your feet everyday, looking for cuts and lesions or any malformations.

* Drinking water offers a variety of health benefits especially for those with diabetes. When people are properly hydrated they report feeling more alert and energetic. For people with diabetes, mild dehydration can have a significant impact on blood glucose readings. Be wise to replenish the water lost through perspiration from the heat or from exercise.

We will resume the Cedar Grove drop-in clinic in September. The Diabetes Education Program is still open at the Medical Clinic throughout July and August, come and see us! Part of caring for your health is checking in with your diabetes educator. Perhaps it has been a while since you have had routine labwork done, reviewed your diet or had your feet and eyes checked. Or maybe you would like encouragement and support to initiate some of the healthy habits discussed in this article. We wish you a healthy and happy summer!

Families came out to enjoy a day of safety at this year's annual Safe Kids Day.

The Chapleau Fire Department, MNR Fire, MNR Bear, Sudbury and District

Health Unit, OPP and Chapleau Best Start Hub gathered at the Moore arena to teach families about the importance of staying safe. Children were delighted to see Sparky the dog and Smokey the bear. Children who brought their bikes had the opportunity to take part in the bike rodeo and have their helmet fitted to ensure their heads are being protected. Bike rodeo participants also had their names entered in a draw to win a new bike. There was a free barbecue and refreshments and everyone enjoyed a piece of Ethel's delicious Safe Kids Day cake. A big Thank you to everyone who participated in this event! See you next year!

Pictures: The new bike was donated by the Chapleau Best Start Hub and presented by Trish Hamill to the excited winner Maxine Beaulieu.

Province to invest $1,544,000 in better water services in Chapleau and Wawa

Ontario government ensuring safe, reliable water and wastewater services

REPORT FROM Queen's Park BY Mike Brown,

Provincial Member of Parliament for Algoma-Manitoulin

Mike Brown, MPP, Algoma-Manitoulin, is pleased to announce that Chapleau and Wawa will get additional help in order for families to continue to have access to clean, safe, reliable water.

To modernize and improve these communities' aging infrastructure, the province is supporting the communities:

- Chapleau - $930,537 for more efficient equipment and controls

- Wawa - $613,644 for water metering

"Upgrades to our water services are not only essential to improving the quality of life for the residents, but it will also create jobs and economic development to our local economy," said Brown.

In 2000, Ontario experienced a tragedy because of contaminated water in Walkerton. More than 120 recommendations were made and the government implemented every single one of them. Ontario has the highest standards for drinking water in North America and has gone on to develop water technologies that not only provide safe, reliable, clean drinking water to Ontarians but to the rest of the world. This has also benefitted Ontarians by creating clean jobs and protecting one of our most valuable resources for our children and our grandchildren.

PM's frivolous travel sets the wrong tone

By Carol Hughes, MP
Algoma-Manitoulin-
Kapuskasing

This past week in Parliament began with a budget that set in motion major cuts to federal departments and programs and was punctuated with a flippant trip to Boston by the Prime Minister to watch game 4 of the Stanley Cup finals. If this seems like mixed messaging to you, you are not alone.

Days after his Finance Minister delivered a rehashed budget that failed to make life more affordable for Canadian families still struggling to recover from the effects of the recession, the Prime Minister soaked himself in privilege and took a Challenger Jet to Boston. It is worth noting that these Jets cost $10,000 an hour to operate. That is taxpayer's money not well spent.

The budget set out cost-cutting goals that have firm targets but is short on the details of how this will be achieved. What is known is that all departments will be asked to cut back and unidentified programs will be cut.

Additionally, the government set a third deficit reduction goal in three years after their own figures revealed they have fallen short of their previous targets.

In the House we had an example of how program cuts will be characterized by the government when the Minister of Fisheries and Oceans referred to a Labrador Search and Rescue center being axed as merely a "call centre." This is the way that cuts to important programs will be rationalized; by changing the way they are described to downplay their importance.

Ultimately, this is not a job creation budget. It doesn't address the reasonable and affordable proposals New Democrats presented to the Prime Minister in February and to Canadians during the federal election. There was nothing to strengthen CPP, nothing to provide relief for family budgets, nothing for the millions of Canadians without access to a family doctor and it failed to lift seniors out of poverty.

That this is happening while the Prime Minister is taking full advantage of his position and flying around on the public dime, for completely unnecessary reasons, is grotesque. If Stephen Harper was truly serious about austerity, he would have watched the game on television like millions of hard-working, tax-paying Canadians. Sadly, we see that the government has embarked on the 'do as I say, not as I do' path only days into the new Parliament.

Le voyage frivole du premier ministre envoie le mauvais message

Par Carol Hughes, MP Algoma-Manitoulin-
Kapuskasing

La dernière semaine parlementaire s'est ouverte par le dépôt d'un budget dans lequel on prévoit des réductions importantes dans les ministères et les programmes fédéraux. Elle a aussi été marquée par un voyage extravagant du premier ministre à Boston pour assister à la quatrième partie de la série finale de la Coupe Stanley. S'il vous semble que les messages sont contradictoires, vous n'êtes pas seuls.

Quelques jours après que son ministre des Finances eu présenté un budget remanié dans lequel rien n'est fait pour améliorer la situation financière des familles canadiennes encore aux prises avec les effets de la récession, le premier ministre s'est offert le privilège d'un voyage à Boston à bord d'un Challenger. Il convient de souligner que l'utilisation de ces jets coûte 10 000 $ de l'heure. Voilà des fonds publics mal dépensés.

Le budget établit des objectifs de réduction des coûts dont les cibles sont fixées mais dont les détails sur la façon de les atteindre sont rares. Ce que l'on sait, c'est que tous les ministères devront procéder à des réductions et que des programmes non identifiés seront éliminés. De plus, le gouvernement établit un troisième objectif de réduction du déficit en trois ans, après que ses propres données lui ont indiqué qu'il avait manqué ses cibles précédentes.

Le ministre des Pêches et des Océans a offert à la Chambre un exemple de la façon dont le gouvernement entend traiter les réductions de programme, lorsqu'il a qualifié de simple « centre d'appels » un centre de recherche et de sauvetage du Labrador qui sera supprimé. Voilà comment on expliquera les réductions à des programmes importants : en changeant la façon de les décrire dans le but d'en diminuer l'importance.

En définitive, il ne s'agit pas d'un budget de création d'emplois. Il ne tient pas compte des propositions raisonnables et abordables que les néo-démocrates ont présentées au premier ministre en février et aux Canadiens au cours de la campagne électorale fédérale. Il ne prévoit rien pour bonifier le RPC, pour alléger le fardeau budgétaire des familles, pour aider les millions de Canadiens qui n'ont pas accès à un médecin de famille, ni pour sortir les aînés de la pauvreté.

Tout cela, alors que le premier ministre profite de tous les privilèges de sa fonction et qu'il voyage aux frais des contribuables, pour des motifs tout à fait futiles. Cette situation est choquante. Si Stephen Harper prenait ses mesures d'austérité vraiment au sérieux, il aurait regardé la partie à la télévision, comme l'on fait des millions d'honnêtes contribuables canadiens. On constate malheureusement que le gouvernement a adopté la devise « faites ce que je dis, pas ce que je fais » quelques jours à peine après l'ouverture de la nouvelle législature.
