Congratulations Tembec Chapleau on your great achievement!

On Monday, November 5, 2012, Tembec Chapleau received The Green Flag Award symbolizing the second highest honour relating to Health and Safety in the Tembec organization. The Green Flag represents a milestone in the journey to a safety culture that is world class.

The Chapleau

Sawmill and Forest Resource Management Group have worked extremely hard toward creating a safety culture that is well on the way to being a leader in health and safety, and now have the opportunity to showcase their efforts. The green flag represents four consecutive quarters under the 2.5 OSHA incident rate target set by Tembec.

Executive Vice President and President of the Tembec Forest Products Group, Dennis Rounville, and Vice President of Tembec Ontario SPF Division, Forest Products Group, Mike Martel attended the Chapleau site to present the green flag award to the General Managers from the Chapleau Sawmill, Eric Tremblay and North Ontario East Forest Resource Management, Ron Martel. Alongside, the two General Managers are members of the Joint Health and Safety Committee who helped create the safety culture each and every day at the sawmill site by actively participating in safety tours, and being part of the Management System Committee. Those two individuals are Rémi St-Martin and Dan Godbout.

Without the leadership and support of Mr. Lopez, President and CEO and the Senior Management Team, sites like ours in Chapleau could not have achieved this goal. In 2009, the OSHA incident rate for the Tembec organization was at 7.8. The OSHA incident rate (OIR) is an indicator of how your organization stands in terms of health and safety by measuring things such as work related medical treatment other than basic first aid, lost time, and recordable incidents. The OIR is a tool for companies to compare safety performance against an average across an organization or versus a national average of similar operations to better understand where they rank. This average is one of the best tools to use to measure safety performance, and a safety culture, so Tembec created a plan to reduce the recordable incident rate every year with an overall goal of achieving a "zero incident rate". The belief within the Tembec organization which stems from Senior Management is that all incidents are preventable, and there are no accidents, which we here in Chapleau believe wholeheartedly and practice on a day-to-day basis.

Today we are proud to announce that at the end of fiscal 2012, we as an organization are sitting at a 1.9 OSHA Incident Rate which is below the target for fiscal 2012, and the Chapleau group has achieved 365 consecutive days without a recordable incident in both the Sawmill operation and the Forest Resource Management Group. At fiscal year-end, the sawmill was 421 days RI free, while the Forest Resource Management Group is going strong in North Ontario East at 2125 RI free days. The forestry contracting group for North Ontario East has 564 days RI free.

In addition to the green flag award, the Chapleau team was also recognized for being the site with the lowest cost operation for the 2012 fiscal year, earning them the right to display the President's Cup at the site for the year. We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who contributed to the success of the Chapleau operations over the past year. We continue to strive for a healthy, safe and environmentally responsible operation while ensuring continuing sustainability for the city of Chapleau.

Congratulations go out once again to the Tembec Chapleau Sawmill and North Ontario East Forest Resource Management Group and their respective teams for their outstanding achievements in health, safety and performance in 2012, and continued success in the future.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Tom Corston's letter that appeared in the November 17 edition of your paper.

In all of my three books about Chapleau and area and a number of letters to individuals and to the editor I have done my best to get my facts and my details right including the correct spelling of names and places. I commend that practice to Mr. Corston.

Tom begins his letter with some comment on the grave of Rev. John Sanders which he incorrectly spells "Saunders". That is not as small a point as it might seem. There were two families living in the area at the time - one named Sanders and one named Saunders. To the best of my knowledge they were not related.

Tom Corston seems not to be troubled by the racism that manifests itself in the Missanabie cemetery where Rev. Sanders rests. When I visited the place some years ago all of the grave markers that were visible were for Aboriginal families. Missanabie has three and perhaps four cemeteries. If Mr. Corston can prove that there are Caucasians buried in the same cemetery as Rev. Sanders I will withdraw some of my comments. Tom Corston goes on to state that the cemetery in question is located on land now part of the Letter to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,

While reading Bishop Corston's letter in last week's copy of the Chapleau Express, I was dismayed to read his statement that Chapleau does not know or care about the little cemetery that belonged to the last residential school here.

While pursuing my genealogy hobby some time ago, I was shocked to discover the number of children who died in 1922 at St. John's Residential School. The death certificates provided the parents' names, birthplace, cause of death and how long the children were living at the school. I started thinking about the sad lives they had, separated from their parents and the loving closeness of people who loved them. I decided to start compiling the information, not knowing who I would eventually share it with. When I came to the end of what was available to me, I had information on fifty children who lived at and, in many cases, died at the school and were buried in the adjacent cemetery. I also discovered one baby and an elderly woman buried in the cemetery. I then decided to send the information to three individuals/groups whom I thought would be able to use this information either to help people find family or simply as a tribute to the children. Copies were sent to the Shingwauk Project at Algoma University, Mrs. Marjorie Cachagee Lee of Chapleau Cree First Nation and Bishop Tom Corston. Two of the three gratefully acknowledged receipt of my file: Ms Krista McCracken of the Shingwauk Project stated it would be of use to them and Mrs. Cachagee Lee informed me that Chapleau Cree First Nation had already applied for a grant to refurbish the cemetery.

In closing I would like to add that if any of your readers are interested in copies of my findings, they can contact me and I would be happy to share the information. My email is: annlouiseetter@gmail.com.

Thank you Mr. Editor for space in your newspaper.

Moment of childhood ecstasy for Neil Morris riding in steam engine cab with his Uncle Nick as engineer

Chapleau Moments

by Michael J. Morris

When Neil Morris was 11-years-old, he took his first ride on steam engine with his uncle F.A. 'Nick' Card, a Canadian Pacific Railway engineer in Chapleau.

Years later, Neil, no relation to me, a reporter at The London Free Press, wrote 'Moment of Childhood Ecstasy' after his uncle had retired from the CPR in 1978. It appeared in the Chapleau Sentinel, and is a wonderful heart-warming story about a child's trips in the cab of steam and diesel engines with his Uncle Nick as the engineer.

Neil wrote that his uncle to him as "a giant of a man."

"His engineer's cap shoved back on his prematurely balding head he'd toss that enormous plumber's tool box that was really his next 24 hour's meals onto to the steel doorway. Then he was up the ladder and through the doorway."

Then it was time for Neil to join him.

"Up you come fella," his uncle would say "with a grin, arms reaching down to me when what I really needed wasn't a help up the ladder but something to hold a kid's pounding heart from exploding."

Nick Card was born in Lady Minto Hospital in Chapleau in 1914, and served the community as a councillor and reeve as well as being active in other community organizations throughout his life. He attended Chapleau Public School and graduated from Chapleau High School in 1934. His father, William Card, also had served on Chapleau council.

Neil continues: "Inside the warm cabin with its throbbing steam gauges, his fireman smiled my way while swinging huge shovelfuls of coal into the gaping firebox.

"The engine lurched as my uncle's gloved hand eased the throttle lever open. Steam blasted from the cylinders behind the cowcatchers. We were moving."

Neil explained that for an 11-year-old it was a moment never to be forgotten, "a thrill relived every time I see a huge steam locomotive on display for a new generation of children to stand in awe over, albeit never to ride."

I contacted Ian Macdonald, now professor emeritus and retired head of the department of architecture at the University of Manitoba and a great railway buff to ask if he knew the type of engines being used by the CPR when Nick was an engineer. Ian also worked on the CPR and received training on both steam and diesel engines.

As always, Ian was back to me quickly: "Steam engine 5433 was actually a Winnipeg locomotive but this locomotive type was the dominant locomotive type on the Schreiber Division during the time Nick was on the road. This is what makes it the most appropriate locomotive to preserve. Kudos to Art Grout."

Steam engine 5433 has been on display in Chapleau Centennial Park since 1964 when Mr. Grout, the president of Smith and Chapple Ltd., arranged to get it from the CPR. N.R. Crump, then CPR president, was on hand for the ceremony.

As a matter of historical interest, when 5433 was being moved to the site on a temporary track, J.M. 'Bud' Park was the engineer and Earle Freeborn was engineer on the yard engine.

Back to Neil's story. Although he wasn't there when that "giant of an uncle" retired, others were, nephews like himself who had "enjoyed their moment of glory in one of his engines in their childhood. Each in his turn had climbed that ladder first of steam engines then later of those diesels with their strangely different sounds and smells."

He explained that the diesels were never like the steamers with their familiar pant, hissing jets of steam and huge clouds of smoke billowing upward as they strained to tug a long freight" out of Chapleau.

Referring to his uncle's retirement:

"Gone are the days when an engineer's heart was in his mouth as his own headlight reflected back at him of a snow-covered evergreen on a curve - his moment of terror that he was meeting another engine head on.

"Gone are the days when he climbed back into an engine, his coveralls ice coated after a water tender spout took a crazy turn and drenched him in freezing January weather.

"And gone are the nights of the 'call boy' shouting at the front door that he was called for this train and that.

His Uncle Nick would be home for Christmas when Neil wrote his article and would not have to leave when his 'call' arrived just as the aroma of turkey was starting to emerge from the oven.

F.A. 'Nick' Card

"And then he would be gone into the snow without a grumble - just a grinning wish for a happy Christmas for all"

Neil noted this was the railroad life and his uncle loved it adding he hoped other uncles or dads would continue to slip a son or daughter, a nephew or niece onto one of those big diesels for Their "moment of childhood ecstasy." I don't know if it would be possible today but Neil's story sure brings back memories of train travel.

Neil concluded: "To me, my uncle was a close kin to Santa Claus. Perhaps, in away, he was the spirit of what Santa Claus is all about. And not too surprisingly his name just happens to be Nick."

F.A. 'Nick' and died in 1986.

Ian sent me other photos and explained: "There are two types of Alco locomotives. Both were of the earliest type used on the CPR in the 1950's and 60's. The two road engine consist is pulling a freight train over the trestle into Chapleau. The other more typical locomotive consist is sitting outside the Chapleau shops.

"2841 is a classic Hudson locomotive was used mainly on the transcontinental trains before they were replaced by diesels. 2841 was relegated to freight service in the late 1950's before being scrapped.

"I include an image of the GM demonstrator locomotives which were the first through Chapleau in 1949. I include the image because it shows the complete train including the dynamometer car immediately behind the locomotives that monitored locomotive performance. I attach another image of the same GM type in CP paint sitting outside the Chapleau shops."

Thanks Ian as always for your assistance. I received the Neil Morris story from the late David McMillan, who gave it to me when he came to visit me in Cranbrook. My email is mj.morris@live.ca

Chapleau General Hospital Auxiliary news update

By Shirley Goheen

Even though we no longer have a tuck shop or gift shop or office in the hospital, the Hospital Auxiliary is still active.

As most of you know the tuck shop that was in the Hospital's lobby was closed as the board wanted us to purchase vending machines and have them installed in that same area. We moved down the hall, beside the entrance to the Bignucolo Residence where the office and tuck shop were combined. A huge reduction in sales resulted from the move and discouragement set in with the volunteers and that resulted in the shop not being open for business on different occasions and for different reasons.

We did manage to pay back, in a very short time, the $8000.00 loan from the Hospital foundation. This loan was used to purchase the vending machines.

Earlier this year I informed the hospital board that we were having difficulties in finding someone to fill in the president's position and we asked the board for assistance in resolving the issue. Shortly after they received the request the rumors started that we were going to be asked to close the shop.

In June, with prevailing rumors of our closure, we made a report to be used at their annual meeting.

A short description of items donated over the years was included in the report. The following are some of the items: a stainless steel sink for the laundry department at a cost of $1483.00, an electric bed at a cost of over $6000.00, cart for housekeeping, 2 tables for the lobby, $600.00 for 2 nurses to attend cardiac Rehabilitation Program, donations of over $28000.00 over the past 10 years.

Well low and behold in July we were asked to remove everything as the room was needed for another program and we were to be out by August 31.

Everything except saleable items, was moved in a storage shed that was previously purchased and used for our Fall Fair supplies.

Purses, scarves, personal items, books, cards, were all disposed of at the fall fair either in the penny sale or in touch and take.

Several businesses after hearing of our departure from the hospital assumed that we were no longer affiliated with the hospital. A meeting was held shortly after receiving our notice and as we had committed to serve at the Fall Fair a decision to continue to support the hospital was made.

Did you know that the auxiliary started in the Lady Minto Hospital in 1814 providing bedding, baby supplies, slippers etc.?

Our decision to continue supporting our hospital was passed at our July meeting and with everyone's support our 100th year anniversary will be a huge success topped with a nice donation to the hospital.

“Missinaibi Cree” reserve. His spelling is again incorrect. The Band, for whatever reason has named itself “Missanabie” after the town and not Missinaibi Lake and River.

Mr. Corston is a bit confused about the two St. John's Residential Schools. The first did in fact burn but after it had become a private residence and after the second school had been built.

To the best of my knowledge, the cemetery near the Blue Heron Inn is on the Chapleau Ojibwe
Reserve, not the

Brunswick House
Reserve.

The source of my statement about George Prewer as Vicar of St. John's was Vince Crichton's book
Pioneering in Northern Ontario. On page 117-8 Mr. Crichton lists all of the incumbents in charge of the [St.
John's] parish from its inception to 1974.
Prewer is listed as the incumbent from 1899 to 1901. That is good enough for me, regardless of how Tom Corston chooses to parse the matter.

I did not state that “some insensitive bishop” appointed Prewer to the [Residential] school. I said that “some insensitive bishop elevated him to the rank of canon”;

probably long after he was sent packing from the school. Who Prewer was responsible to when he was head of St. John's Residential School is a good question. Like all Anglican clergy, he had sworn to obey his bishop. And his letter of resignation was not to the Government of Canada but “To my lord bishop” as he put it. On the other hand, the files are replete with direct orders to Prewer from the Department of Indian Affairs. Regardless of who was the boss, the government made the balls and the churches threw them. I still find the glee with which they did so profoundly revolting.

As far as Rev.
Redfern Louttit is concerned, I obtained my facts on him from an article that appeared in an official Diocese of Moosonee publication.
Rev. Louttit may have been grateful that he learned to read and write at the St. John's School but I cannot think of a more dreadful place to get an education than at a residential school.

Mr. Corston
accuses me of “accusing the successive clergy at St. John's Church of every debased form of humanity that [I] can think of”. Not true. I can think of a lot more.

And the clergy to which I referred were most of those who served from Prewer to Gibbs.

As for the Gibbs affair, one cannot deal with it without reference to the bishop who, knowing full well what was going on,
transferred Gibbs from parish to parish. By doing so he was committing the very serious criminal offense of being “an accessory
after the fact”. Fortunately for the bishop, he has died and does not have to face those charges.

How anyone could infer that I blamed the aging and dwindling congregation of St. John's for all of their problems is beyond comprehension. I did no such thing. Like most mainstream Christian denominations, the Anglican Church

membership has been dropping like a stone – not just in Chapleau. To explore the reasons why is beyond the scope of this letter.
However, it was the choice of the members of the parish to split into two different congregations and that certainly didn't help the situation.

Thank you for the opportunity to set this record straight.

Yours truly,
William E. McLeod

November is Diabetes Awareness Month !

It has been 90 years since Banting and Best discovered insulin. This discovery allowed so many people to truly live with diabetes. One Canadian pilot, Stephen Steele, is a prime example of someone who has not let diabetes stop them from achieving their dreams. In 1986, after working for eight years as a commercial airline pilot with Air Canada, Stephen was suddenly grounded after being diagnosed with type 1 diabetes. Here is an excerpt from the Canadian Diabetes Association interview with him. Captain Steele shared his story in Thunder Bay on November 8th . His motivational talk was entitled "Cleared for Take-off" and was in celebration of Diabetes Awareness month.

"If you run up against a roadblock in the things you want to do, look for ways around the roadblock and don't just end it there," says Steele.

He did just that. Rather than accept defeat, Stephen went back to school to become a lawyer to advocate for changes in international aviation standards. He successfully returned to the cockpit in 2003 as the first person in the world to fly as the captain of a commercial airliner while taking insulin. "I think there is a pay-forward requirement here – if you are able to change things for the better for somebody, you have an obligation to do it for them," he adds.

Approximately three million Canadians are living with diabetes. Type 1 diabetes, usually diagnosed in children and adolescents, occurs when the pancreas is unable to produce insulin - a hormone that controls the amount of sugar in the blood . Approximately 10 per cent of people with diabetes have type 1 diabetes.

Most people we know with diabetes will have type 2. This type is most influenced by healthy lifestyle choices. What can you do as a friend or family member to support or encourage them to live life to the fullest? It may be as simple as asking them how their day was and really listening. It may be going for a walk with them to help facilitate their exercise regime. It may be reminding them that the Diabetes Education Program exists to help empower them to live well with diabetes. If you or someone you know would like more information on the Diabetes Education Program in Chapleau, please call Krista or Robin at 705 864 1805.

THE LOCAL MARKET PLACE

CHADWIC HOME, FAMILY RESOURCE CENTRE. Offers shelter, emotional support, and information for women and their children who are in crisis situations. We have a Toll Free Crisis Line which is staffed 24 hours a day. We can arrange for free transportation to the Centre for women who live in the Algoma/Chapleau area. We also offer support to women who live in the communities of Chapleau, White River, Dubreuilville, and Hornepayne through our Outreach Program. Our Outreach Worker travels to those communities to meet with women who need emotional support as well as information about their rights and options. If you need to speak with the Outreach Worker when she is in your community, you can call the Centre at any time to set up an appointment. You do not need to be a resident of the Centre in order to use our services. If you need someone to talk to or if you just need someone to listen, call our Toll Free Crisis line at 1-800-461-2242 or you can drop in at the Centre. We are here for you.

André Thériault et les chansons des fonds de terroir

« Oser la tradition orale, c'est ouvrir un espace où les spectateurs se surprennent à rire et à chanter de bon coeur! »

Animateur chevronné et interprète hors du commun, André Thériault a présenté de nombreux spectacles au Québec, au Nouveau-Brunswick, en Ontario et au Manitoba.

Avec ce nouveau one-man-show, il offre une performance interactive, authentique et audacieuse. Dans une ambiance des plus festives, André Thériault présente un spectacle guitare et voix dans lequel il repousse les barrières et se fait encore plus complice avec le public.

À travers le répertoire rassembleur des PierreDaigneault, Oscar Thiffault, La Bolduc et plusieurs autres, André Thériault ravive toute la convivialité et l'humour des belles chansons issues de la tradition orale francophone. Pour André Thériault, faire revivre ces chansons, c'est l'occasion de rassembler les gens dans la bonne humeur. Pour lui, oser la tradition orale, c'est ouvrir un espace où les spectateurs se surprennent à rire et à chanter de bon coeur!

Le Centre culturel Louis-Hémon présentera le nouveau spectacle d'André Thériault, le samedi 30 novembre au restaurant Aux Trois Moulins à 20h30. Et pourquoi ne pas faire vous joindre à nous vers 18 h30 pour un bon repas avant le spectacle. Le coût du spectacle est de $10.00.

Une soirée d'authentique bon temps... Un incontournable!

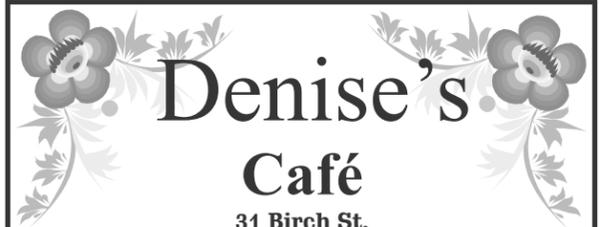

NSFC/CMFN Marketing and Communications Officer
Closing Date: Friday November 30th, 2012
Remuneration: $3,000 monthly

The Northeast Superior Forest Community in partnership with the Canadian Model Forest Network requires the services of a marketing and communications officer to work on a six-month contract to provide the following services:

1. Website Management – both corporations have the need for a person to maintain and update their websites. The websites are seen as one of the organizations' key marketing tools and a way to introduce others to our work, thus tightly linked to our corporate messaging and displaying our activities to new and existing partners. Anticipated activities This includes: updating text, managing project pages, updating links, photos and more. Any social media attached to the website should be updated on a weekly basis.
2. Social Media – Relevance in today's society is closely linked to having a presence on Facebook and Twitter. Successfully utilizing these tools can help build the national and regional brands and can help to ensure that existing and potential partners are aware of the organization, what it is we do, and our activities. Tracking on Twitter makes it possible to stay up to date with the goings on of MPs, other conservation organizations and more.
3. Corporate Messaging – As the organizations are re-emerging into now scopes of work and restructuring themselves, it is critical to the future success of the organizations to ensure that the message we are portraying is consistent and is prepared in a way that allows all of our members the ability to spread the same message, at both local and national scales.
4. E-newsletters – Each partner is required to develop an online newsletter about our goings on and our efforts to achieve our mandates. During the course of the contract each partner will develop at least 2 newsletters to be dispersed online and advertised through the web.
5. Articles and media releases – Articles and newsletter content will be developed on an as needed basis. These include media releases and helping to organize any media events where required.
6. Marketing and Promotion – As the organizations develop projects and products, there will be a need to broadly distribute this information. This contract may require the assistance in developing a promotional plan for project release to a wide audience to maximize uptake and awareness of programs and areas of interest to stakeholders and potential clients.

The position is contract and office location will be dependent on the successful candidate's location. The contract is intended to provide 35 hours per week with approved overtime when necessary. The successful candidate should have above average communication skills, strong writing skills, the ability to work independently, flexibility to travel, and an education in public relations, marketing, communications or equivalent work experience. The successful applicant will need to be familiar with social media and be comfortable using these new media techniques. Communication skills in both French and English are preferred.
